

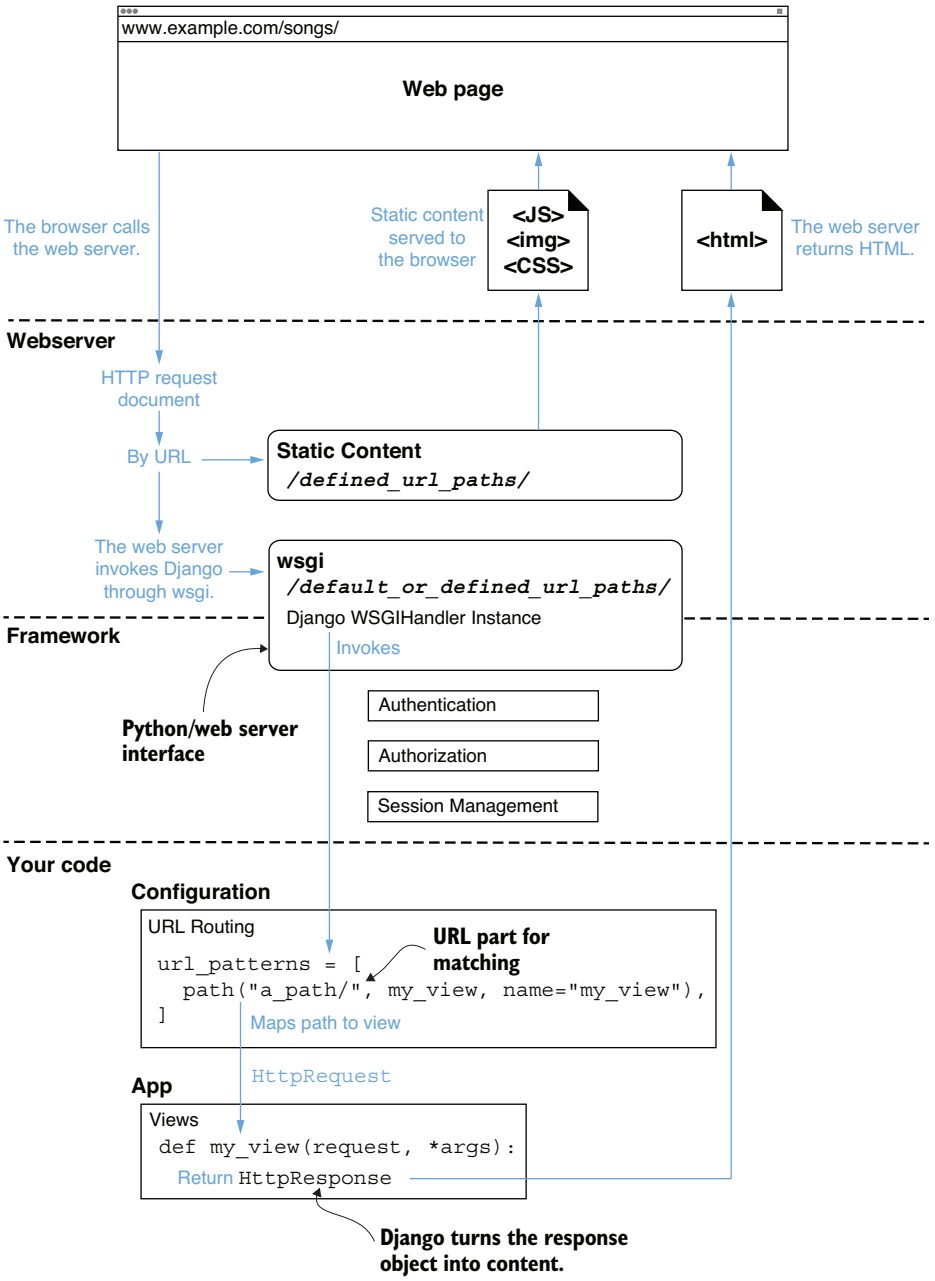

Figure 2.1 A web server invokes Django through WSGI, Django calls your code, and then it formats the response for a browser

The `django-admin` program is actually the entry point for a number of configuration activities. Each activity gets invoked using a command provided as an argument to